We All
Love
Music!

Music has the power to make us feel lively, depressed, relaxed or happy. Research into the effect music has on living things gives us some surprising results.

So, how does music affect young people? Teenagers who listened to lively, upbeat music when they did homework were in a better mood, so their marks improved! Classical music at school helped school children relax and concentrate more on their work. And that's not all! Teenagers who took music classes were more sociable and creative, not to mention better at Maths. That's a great reason to start learning to play a musical instrument, don't you think?

Does it surprise you that animals like music, too? Researchers discovered that horses moved in time to the rhythm of the music they listened to. That's almost like dancing! And dogs slept more and barked less when they listened to classical music, but heavy metal music made them bark a lot and even shake! Heavy metal fans, be careful! And did you know that cows produce more milk when they listen to classical music? Ah, music, wonderful moo-sic!

What about plants? They're living things, too! Researchers found that playing classical music in a rice field made the rice grow faster. The wheat in some wheat fields in Canada seemed to like violin music – farmers produced over 60% more wheat than usual. That's amazing!

From: Frannie@abc.com
To: Val@abc.com
Subject: concert

Hi, Val!

Just writing to let you know about the concert last night. It was brilliant! It's a shame you couldn't come.

There were three bands playing during the evening, but the best was a new band called Zenith. They played really well. Their music was a mixture of jazz and rock and it was amazing. They played some really catchy songs and soon had the audience dancing and singing happily along with them! The lead singer is called Vince. He's got a great voice and he's an excellent performer. By the end of the evening, he had a lot of fans, including me! At the end of the concert, I ran quickly to buy their new album and I managed to get Vince's autograph! He was really nice and chatty and he told me that all the members of Zenith went to school together. Cool, huh? I think we should form a band at school!

Anyway, their next concert is in Tellworth next month, so you can find out all about them for yourself!

Take care,
Frannie

The Chinchilla Melon Festival

is in Queensland, Australia.
This crazy event happens every two years in February to celebrate watermelons!

There are a lot of things to see and do during this three-day festival. You can watch an exciting watermelon parade with lots of dancers in watermelon costumes. There are watermelon sports to play, too! There is a watermelon tug of war, a watermelon race and even watermelon water skiing!

The Chinchilla Melon Festival is a great place to go if you love watermelons and you love mess!

The Battle of the Oranges is in February or March in Ivrea, Italy, and it's a food festival with a difference!

The preparations for the biggest food fight in Italy begin with around 250,000 kilos of oranges arriving in Ivrea. There are two sides in the Battle of the Oranges.

There are the 'good guys', the orange throwers on the streets, and the 'bad guys', the throwers in their carriages. At the end of the festival, everyone is covered in a sticky, orange mess!

This is an event where you must leave your best clothes at home!

2 Check your friend.

The Chinchilla Melon Festival is in Italy.

That's wrong! It is in Australia.

Milk is an important part of our daily diet because it helps us grow strong and healthy. But how does delicious milk get from the cows to our table? Here's a quick photo tour.

3 Read and match the definitions below with the words in yellow in the text.

- 1 the heating of milk and then cooling it to kill bacteria
- 2 put something somewhere and keep it for later use
- 3 large farm buildings where animals stay
- 4 take milk from a cow
- 5 making
- 6 take something to a place

4 Read and answer.

- 1 Why is milk important for people?
- 2 Where do dairy cows live?
- 3 How many hours do they spend eating and sleeping?
- 4 When does a dairy cow start producing milk?
- 5 When do farmers usually milk the dairy cows?
- 6 How long does milk usually stay in the tank?

5 @ Collect information about how your favourite food gets to your table. Make a project or a PowerPoint® presentation. Present it to the class.

It all begins with the cows. Dairy cows live in barns. They spend 8 hours eating, 8 hours sleeping and 8 hours chewing their food.

A dairy cow usually starts producing milk at the age of 2. Farmers usually milk them twice a day: in the morning (around 6 am*) and in the afternoon (around 5 pm*).

Farmers store the milk in a special cold place. We call it a tank. The milk stays there for 24 - 48 hours. Then tankers collect the milk and take it to a dairy factory.

When the tanker delivers the milk to the dairy factory there are a lot of things to do. First it goes to quality control. Then it is time for pasteurisation and more processing. The milk is then ready to go into cartons and bottles.

Special lorries deliver the cartons and the bottles of milk to the shops. You and your family can now drink it. Enjoy!

A 2,300 kilometres
B 230 kilometres
- Why is it a natural wonder?
A It's very long.
B It's got one third of the world's soft coral.
- Why is it disappearing fast?
A There are a lot of fish there.
B People pollute the reef.
- What is the Dead Sea?
A a lake B a sea
- Why is it a natural wonder?
A It's the lowest spot on Earth.
B It hasn't got any salt in it.
- Why is the Dead Sea getting smaller?
A The River Jordan is getting bigger.
B Less water is going into the Dead Sea.

4 @ Find information about another natural wonder. Make a project or a PowerPoint® presentation. Present it to the class.

Think about:

- where it is
- why it is a natural wonder
- problems it faces

The Great Barrier Reef in Australia is one of the world's natural wonders. It is 2,300 kilometres long and it is home to many different kinds of fish and coral. One third of the world's soft coral is there! But the coral reef is disappearing fast. This is happening because of oil spills from ships, overfishing and water pollution. It may be full of life today, but it may be dead tomorrow!

The Dead Sea is a salt lake in the Middle East. It is the lowest spot on Earth. It has got 10 times more salt than seawater, as well as minerals that people use in therapies. But the Dead Sea is getting smaller every year! The Dead Sea gets its water from the River Jordan, but people are using a lot of water from the River Jordan and less water is going into the Dead Sea. Cosmetic companies are also taking away the minerals in the Dead Sea to put in their products.

We must try to protect our natural wonders before it is too late and these beautiful treasures are just a memory!

The Trumpeter of Kraków

A story from Poland

watchman

tower

cloud

1 Listen and read. How does the old watchman warn the people of Kraków?

1 This is the city of Kraków in Poland many years ago. An old watchman is standing at the top of a tower. Every day, he stands there looking over the city, making sure its people are safe. One day he sees a cloud of dust in the distance. The old watchman is worried. What is it?

2 As the watchman looks closer, he can see that a large army is galloping towards the city. Invaders from the east want to attack the people of Kraków!

3 There is only one thing the watchman can do. He picks up his trumpet immediately and starts to play the warning tune again and again!

4 At first the people of Kraków are puzzled. They don't know why the watchman is playing the warning tune again and again. Suddenly, they realise that someone is attacking their city.

5 The invaders are getting closer and closer to the city. But the Polish archers are ready to fight. The archers line up and the battle begins. The Polish arrows fly through the air! Eventually the invaders turn back. Kraków is safe!

6 Everyone is celebrating, but the old man is not with them.

Where is the watchman?

We must find him. He is a hero!

7 The people find the old watchman but, sadly, he is dead. He is still holding his trumpet, ready to blow one last note.

8 The brave old watchman from Kraków becomes a hero. Hundreds of years later, from the tower in Kraków, every hour a trumpeter plays the tune to remember the Trumpeter of Kraków!

2 Read and put the story in order.

- A The archers line up and protect their city.
- B The people of Kraków understand that someone is attacking their city.
- 1 C The old watchman sees an army galloping towards Kraków.
- D The people of Kraków show respect to the old watchman by playing the tune every hour.
- E He plays the warning tune on his trumpet.
- F The city of Kraków is safe, but the old watchman is dead.

3 Over to you: Tell the class.

- 1 Do you like the story? Why?/Why not?
- 2 What's your favourite part of the story?
- 3 Why should we respect brave people like the old watchman?

Show respect to people who give their lives to save others!

Hi, Karen

I hope you are well. I had a great weekend at my aunt's house. She lives in a small town by the sea. It was too hot to go swimming, but we found lots to do. We went for long walks and ate lots of delicious food! My aunt is young and she lives on her own so she was happy to have some company. She keeps a lot of animals so the house is very quiet, but it's great fun. She's got two giant cats and a(n) ugly kitten as well as three crazy dogs and a horse! It's quite easy looking after them all!

See you soon,

Love

Mandy

4 Talking point Listen and read. Then act out similar dialogues.

- Elena: Look at these amazing Amur leopards.
Tom: Did you know they may become extinct pretty soon? There are only seventy of them left in the wild.
Elena: Really? Why's that?
Tom: Because people hunt them for their fur to make coats and carpets.
Elena: That's a shame! Will they disappear forever?
Tom: Let's hope not! It's up to us!

5 Here are some important years from the text: 1900, 1922, 1914. What do they refer to? Read quickly and find out. Then listen and read.

The Wonders of Wildlife

The American buffalo is a magnificent animal. Native Americans had great respect for buffalo because they needed buffalo meat and fur to survive. Before the 1800s, there were 60 million buffalo running free across the 'Wild West' of the USA. Then, when people from other countries came to settle in the USA, they hunted buffalo by the thousands. By 1900, there were only 300 buffalo left. In other words, they were almost extinct. Fortunately, people realised that they needed to do something to protect the buffalo, and today buffalo numbers are rising!

The Barbary lion is another example of an animal almost disappearing. These proud animals once fought with gladiators and are now extinct in the wild. People used to hunt them in Africa and the last lion in the wild was killed in Morocco in 1922. Today you can only see a Barbary lion in a zoo. With our help and protection, they may be brought back to life, like the buffalo, and once again return to the wild where they belong!

For many animals, protection came too late. Martha, the last passenger pigeon on Earth, died in a zoo in 1914. Years ago, there were more passenger pigeons on Earth than any other type of bird! The whole sky used to turn dark because there were so many pigeons flying in the air. People killed them for their tasty meat until there were none left to eat! We must all learn our lesson from animals like Martha. Can you imagine a world without whales or chimpanzees, or the many other endangered animals on Earth?

6 Read again and write buffalo, Barbary lions, passenger pigeons.

- Their numbers are increasing today.
- The last one died about 100 years ago.
- There were 60 million running free.
- They once fought with the gladiators.
- They lived in Africa.
- There are none left.

3 ENDANGERED ANIMALS OF BRITAIN

1 Listen and read. Then match to make sentences.

- The red squirrel was _____
 - It is in danger because of _____
 - The grey squirrel came _____
 - The hedgehog's numbers _____
 - A lot of hedgehogs _____
 - The first Day of the Hedgehog was _____
- a have dropped over the past years.
b die on the roads.
c in 2015.
d once everywhere in the UK.
e a disease introduced to the UK by the grey squirrel.
f to the UK over a hundred years ago.

The UK is home to many wonderful animals, but unfortunately as in most countries, some of them are now on the endangered list.

The red squirrel is a mammal that you could once see everywhere in the UK. Unfortunately, these typically British animals are in danger because of disease. The disease is carried by the grey squirrel, a North American animal introduced to the UK over a hundred years ago. The grey squirrel can survive the disease, but it kills red squirrels.

The hedgehog the UK's favourite wild animal, may disappear altogether. Their numbers have dropped as much as the number of tigers worldwide! What are the main causes of this drop in numbers? The increase in traffic on the roads and the heavy dangerous machines that farmers use. Cars and bigger vehicles could easily kill a little hedgehog. In 2015, the first Day of the Hedgehog took place to make people aware that hedgehogs are endangered and they should be protected.

3 Over to you: Write about an endangered animal in your country. Write about: what type of animal it is, where you can see it, the reasons it is endangered.

4 BRITISH CHARITIES

1 Read and underline. Then listen and check.

One of the most well-known charities 1) in/on the UK is the RSPCA, the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It has fought 2) for/to protect animals since 1824. It is a popular charity because the UK is a nation of animal lovers and believes that animals should be protected 3) on/at all times.

The RSPCA rescue animals if they have not been treated properly and they also treat sick animals and find homes for them. In the UK it is 4) against/for the law to be cruel to an animal and people are encouraged to call the RSPCA if they have ever seen this happen.

Keep Britain Tidy is a national charity that has existed 5) since/for 1955. Its aim is to keep Britain clean and tidy and to encourage people to go green. The charity wants to make people aware 6) from/of the environment they live in and to stop doing things that make their neighbourhoods look dirty and ugly. These things include throwing rubbish 7) on/at the streets, writing graffiti on walls and damaging public property such 8) as/like telephone boxes and bus stops.

2 Complete the sentences using the words below.

Hi, guys! I'm collecting information for a PowerPoint presentation about zoos from around the world. Which zoos do you think are worth a visit? Andy comments

I'm from Queensland, Australia. I believe Australia Zoo is the place to go for a fun day out! You can see over 1,000 different animals. I went last week and I fed a giant tortoise and even took a picture with a huge snake! It was a lot of fun! I also saw real crocodiles and learned about how they live in the wild! It was an unforgettable experience!

Sally

I'm from London, England. I think London Zoo is fantastic! There are over 18,000 different animals to see and lots of things to do! I really loved the Komodo Dragon House! There are only a few thousand komodo dragons left in the wild, so I'm glad I saw them! You can also get up close with a giant spider! I had the chance to hold one in my hand! It was so cool! London Zoo is well worth a visit!

Harry

I'm from Japan. Yesterday I went to Zoorasia, one of Japan's biggest zoos and I felt like I traveled the world! There are different areas where animals from around the world live like they are in the wild. It's almost like their natural habitats! There is a special tunnel where visitors can see polar bears swimming underwater! I also saw a Red Panda - it was so cute! Then I went on a monkey tour! I had so much fun! Zoorasia is a great zoo, full of adventure!

Misaki

- Sally took a picture with a crocodile.
- There are more than 10,000 animals at Australia Zoo.
- Harry enjoyed visiting the Giant Spider House.
- You can hold a snake in your hand at London Zoo.
- At Zoorasia, visitors can see pandas swim underwater.
- Misaki went on a Red Panda tour.

Presentation Skills II

Endangered Animals

1 Read and complete Violet's presentation. Then listen and check. How does Violet begin and end her presentation?

- Can I ask you all? So, let's see why? Another reason?
- Did you know? It'll leave you today? To begin with today?

Hello, everyone. 1) Can I ask you all? to close your eyes for a minute and picture this: the young ones are playing, climbing, rolling in the mud and having fun, while their mothers relax close by, keeping an eye on them. Where are you? At a playground? No! You're on a mountain in Africa watching a group of amazing mountain gorillas!

Mountain gorillas are wonderful animals, but they could become extinct if we are not careful. There are only about 700 of them left! 2) _____, I'd like to tell you a few things about these gentle giants. 3) _____ that they were only discovered in 1902! They live in the thick mountain rainforests of Africa, so they are quite well-hidden from the world. Mountain gorillas look scary but really they are very gentle creatures who live together in families and are mostly vegetarian. The family has got a big male leader, called a silverback. The silverback looks after his family and will only become aggressive when he thinks his family is in danger. He's just a good dad!

4) _____ mountain gorillas might be in danger. Well, there's hunting for one thing. Hunters kill the gorillas for food. They also chop off body parts to sell as souvenirs. That's disgusting! 5) _____ the gorillas are in danger is that their homes are disappearing. People are chopping down the trees in the rainforests for land, firewood and houses.

Today, people are working hard to protect mountain gorillas, their forests and their way of life in the mountains. But why is this work so important? 6) _____ with something to think about. Dian Fossey, the famous scientist who studied mountain gorillas, once said: "The man who kills the animals today is the man who kills the people who get in his way tomorrow."

2 Listen to Violet's presentation again. Answer the questions.

- How many gorillas are there?
- Where do they live?
- Why are they in danger?

- A: What's the name of your endangered animal? B: The Asian elephant.

Prepare

4 Read and number. Write 1, 2 or 3.

- Step 1: Prepare your presentation. What information are you going to include in the Introduction, Main Body and Conclusion? How are you going to begin and end your presentation? How are you going to present your information?
- Step 2: Learn about the endangered animal. Where can you find some information?
- Step 3: Choose an endangered animal. What animal is your presentation about?

Practise

- Rehearse your presentation.
- It is a good idea to ask a friend to listen to you. Does he/she have any questions for you?

Present

Present an endangered animal. Don't forget to follow PRESENT on page 73.

THINK

The question is, are we happy to suppose that our grandchildren may never be able to see an elephant except in a picture book?

Dear Mum and Dad,

I'm having a great time on grandma and grandpa's farm! I've been here for three days and I've already done a lot of cool things.

I've picked berries in the wild and I've milked a cow! It was so funny! I've also built a tree house with grandpa. Yesterday I caught a butterfly, but then I let it go!

I'm having a lot of fun! I'll see you next week!
 Speak soon!
